

BANKERS OF COUNTY PLEDGE SUPPORT IN BETTER COTTON SEED

MATTER OF MORE EXTEN-SIVE PLANTING OF HIGH GRADE SEEDS ENDORSED

Members of the Navarro County Bankers' Association by resolution endorsed the campaign for the planting of better seed, particularly cotton seed, and pledged their assistance in every possible way to the encouragement and extension of the movement at a meeting held in the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce building Tuesday night.

The bankers were guests of the agricultural committee of the chamber at a buffet luncheon at 6:30 and the meeting followed immediately. President Ted B. Ferguson extended the greetings to the bankers, and then presented J. H. Roberts, cashier of the First National Bank, president of the Bankers' Association and chairman of the agriculture committee of the chamber, who presided during the remainder of the session.

F. N. Drane, vice president in charge of agriculture, presented the reason for the called meeting, asserting that Navarro county had never used too many pedigree seed and that present indications were that only about one-third of the usual amount would be planted this year. He asserted that cotton seed, particularly Texas, were suffering from a low staple cotton, resulting out that several other states, and even the East Texas area, had outstripped the blackland sector in use of better seed and in rebuilding their soils. The present financial condition has caused many farmers to abandon their usual seed plots through a mistaken idea of economy, while they should be increasing the size of the seed plots in order to raise a better staple which will co-operative association has taught them on the use of good seed.

Seed Breeder Award.

John J. Bryant, local seed breeder, and representative of the Texas Cottonseed Breeders' Association asserted that the county usually used about 16,000 bushels of pure seed, but that so far only about one-third to one-half as many would be used this year; he asserted that the use of these seeds usually produced about 100,000 bushels of good seed for planting, which brought about $400,000 to $500,000 additional money to the farmers each year. He declared that the problem would not be so evident this year, but raised the question as to where the farmers would produce their seed for planting next season.

He reported that prices had been reduced by the breeders, and that efforts were being made to carry out the "one variety community" idea; in Navarro county he recommended that special efforts be made to secure the planting of seed blocks. He pointed out the advantages of the one variety community, and urged that the interest not be confined to this year, but that the interest be permanent.

Better Price for Better Staple. W. C. Gillean, manager of the Corsicana branch office of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association, reported that a meeting of the bankers in Corsicana was held recently to discuss the use of seed blocks. He presented figures to prove the advantages of growing better staple. Staple running from three-fourths to thirteen-sixteenths brought 85 points more than the usual price, and cotton between 13-16 and 7-8 brought an additional seven points. Cotton above 7-8

Freak Collard Plant Is On Display Here

A freak collard, that was raised in Van Zandt county, was exhibited in Corsicana Monday and Tuesday by A. M. Wilson, faculty member of the I. O. O. H. Home and put on display at the Chamber of Commerce.

Measuring approximately six feet in height, the freak collard plant had normal stem and leaves up to its regular length, and a fibrous mass about 8 inches wide and a half inch thick grew out of the top of the plant for about three feet. The mass was covered with small leaves and at the end had gone to seed.

Persons seeing the unusual plant agreed that it was a freak of nature, and the first of its kind they had seen.

VIRGIL KIRKLAND FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER OF GIRL

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 11.—(P)

—One man was shot and killed and another escaped in an automobile today when the pair attempted to rob the First National Bank of Harrah, 20 miles east of here.

The slain man, unidentified at noon, had in his possession about $900 loan from the bank. The robber who escaped took with him approximately $250 in silver.

Walter Fallwell, filling station attendant across the street from the bank, shot the robber with a shotgun as the two emerged with the money.

The two robbers became suspicious of the two as they entered the bank and obtained his shotgun and waited for them to come out.

In the bank were O. G. McClung, V. F. Miles, Miss Leah Razoch, bank officials and employees, and one customer.

The escaping robber fled eastward out of Harrah toward Shawnee, Fallwell said.

MEXIA, March 11.—(S)

—Attorneys for Virgil Kirkland, found guilty of murder of Arlene Draves, 18, a sweet sixteen-year-old, in 1929, recommended to-day that he had uncovered evidence to the woman witness to the tragedy which would be presented in their appeal for a new trial to save the youngster from life imprisonment.

Barratt O'Hara, chief of defense counsel, said the evidence was of such a nature that the new trial should "clear Kirkland entirely."

He refused to name the woman and would not reveal the nature of the evidence.

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 11.

—Life behind the turreted walls of the state prison at Michigan City loomed ahead of Virgil Kirkland, 20 year old steel worker.

The former high school gridiron star was convicted last night by a Porter county jury of murdering Arlene Draves, 18, his sweetheart, during a "flaming youth" drinking party at an obscure Gary home last November.

The jury had deliberated only three hours. With their verdict, the tense waiting of the first of the five young charged with Miss Draves' death over.

Leon Stanford, second of the five, was brought here yesterday and lodged in a cell adjacent to that occupied by Kirkland. The other three, Paul Barton, David Thompson and Henry Shirk, are confined at Crown Point.

Another was charged by complaint with the alleged violation of the prohibition laws in Judge W. W. Clopton's court.

Judge

Grants Crumpacker will sentence Kirkland formally next Monday. Kirkland, soon after,

will be taken to the Michigan state prison to remain for the rest of his life unless Judge

Crumpacker finds a merit on a motion for a new trial or a superior court finds an error in the proceedings, or future executive clemency is evoked to liberate him.

The jury had deliberated only

CORSICANA, TEX., MCH. 13, 1931

A 10-BILLION CONGRESS

Post-session inventories place at $10,000,000,000 the total appropriation of the seventy-first congress, an unprecedented record for peace time expenditures.
More than half of that sum was approved at the short session of this year.

Drought and unemployment relief made it expedient to sidetrack economy.
But excluding these items of emergency expense, it would have been a spendthrift congress. No "pork barrels" were left unfilled during its day.

Was it only accident that the greatest "relief" appropriations of all time were made by the seventy-first congress? Similar emergencies existed during other congressional sessions without eliciting more than an expression of regret and sympathy from congress.
The seventy-first congress
said it with billions.

Several explanations can be advanced. Perhaps it was time for the pendulum to swing back from Coolidge economy. Or having started the ball to rolling with one innocent and necessary appropriation, congress may have been powerless to prevent its gathering weight and size like a snowball.
And then those habitual treasury surpluses were irresistible temptations to congressmen with the will to please their constituents.

The seventy-first congress
has placed the nation heavily in debt and may bring upon its overburdened shoulders increased taxes but it may be forgiven if the relief in dollars is speedily translated into real relief and if those 10 billions bring back prosperity that the people may obtain the wherewithal for repaying them.

ARMS LIMITATION
PROGRAM

Committees and commissions are laying the ground work for the world disarmament conference, which probably will be in session by this time next year. The preparatory arms commission was the first to report, and the latest is the budgetary limitation committee.

The committee is in accord with Washington's opposition to a budget yardstick for armaments, having discarded the idea of comparing the expenditures for armaments of one nation with those of another for the purpose of arms limitation.

Under the scheme favored by the committee cuts would be made for each nation on the principle of reducing future expenditure below the average of its own past outlay. While this plan leaves much to be desired, it marks some progress and may open the way to an improved plan.

An out and out budget plan of limitation is not to be considered because of differentials in wages, construction and material costs, and military pay between the several world powers.
Italy, for example, could maintain a much larger army and navy than the United States could on the same amount of money.

While Washington is interesting itself in the coming conference, it is seeking to impress Europe with the fact that since the United States maintains but a skeleton defensive army in peace time and is in competition with no other army, it will not be affected by the conference, which will chiefly concern competitive land forces.

Home is the place the college student comes at holiday time. At other times it is the place to which he appeals for funds.

JUST FOLKS

THE SIDEWALKS OF LIFE.
Up and down the sidewalks romp
the children as they play.
While in and out among them
walk the weary folks and gray,
And in and out among them walk
the seekers after fame.
But I think the while I watch them they are very much the same.
The little girls are wheeling wagon dollies up and down.
The little boys are soldiers on their way to sack a town.
But the older women trundle real babies in the sun.
And are doing for a purpose what the children do for fun.
The little men and women have they are also growing, too.
They suffer disappointments, as the weary grown-ups do.
They are bickerings and quarrels on the sidewalks every day which sound very like the wranglings of the wrinkled brows and gray.
Up and down the sidewalk romp
the children at their play.
While in and out among them
grownups hurry on their way;
And I think the while I watch them, when life's story's fully told,
The burdens of the children are the burdens of the old.

ISSUE-HUNTING CANDI-DATES.

Testifying before a committee of the state senate investigating utilities operations, the governor of Pennsylvania made the blanket charge that the corporations are in conspiracy to control the government and the courts of Pennsylvania.

The author of such an amazing indictment cannot evade the self-imposed responsibility of proving it.
It would be fair neither to the public nor to the corporations to stop with the accusation, making it necessary for the accused to prove their innocence by any means available to them.

If he has the facts to support his charges, he should place them before the people.
Pennsylvania is an industrial state where the well-being of the masses depends largely upon business prosperity and public confidence in business, so anything that tends to undermine either cannot safely be ignored.

While Governor Pinchot refused to submit to examination by the committee and has not yet moved to prove his charges, he cannot afford to let the matter rest here. To do so would be convicting himself of insincerity and bad faith. As one of the many bitten by the presidential bee, he cannot afford to brand himself as a demagogue.

The so-called "power trust" was made an issue in several state campaigns last year and is providing the hobby upon which several aspirants hope to ride into a presidential nomination next year, but thus far campaigns have been long on charges and short on proof.
The public is entitled to a show-down; to know whether this is a revival of the trust-busting days by a crowd of office-seekers or an honest effort to protect the public against exorbitant power and other utility rates.

REVERBERATIONS.

Is the famous Butler-Musolini case, now history to remain largely a state secret?

From the bursting of the first bombshell to the final futile efforts at Washington to hush up the whole matter, the case has been surrounded by a certain amount of mystery and official evasiveness. The whole story has not been told the public.

The public is, therefore, legitimately curious and is passing some personal questions. The incident is closed only in so far as it affects General Butler.

The truth may be locked in state archives in Washington and Rome, but there is nothing to prevent the man on the street from satisfying himself as to what the truth really is. He may be miles away from the parade of progress, although they insist on wearing their own regiments."

He may decide that the state department apologized to Italy and ordered a court martial for the loquacious fighting Marine, not because Italy was offended, but because General Butler
had so offended the State Department that it was waiting just such an opportunity as this to "get even."

And then the truth, as the man on the street sees it, may be that the court martial was recalled to save Mussolini further embarrassment and at his own re-

ANOTHER TERRIBLE MENACE

"REGIONAL CULTURE."

"Some people in the South and Southwest believe that their recent trend toward a native literature and other artistic expression represents something new in the history of the land," observes the New York Times editorially and continues as follows:

"As a matter of fact, it is merely a return to something old. An excellent return it is, for there were two decades at least when New York City's influence in literary and other cultural matters seemed to standardize the nation. Everybody was reading what New York was writing, singing what New York was singing here was located the only stock exchange of Pernassus. There were certain rugged rebels against this standardization, notably in Chicago, New Orleans and San Francisco. But obeisance to the East was general. Recently, with the development of centers like Chapel Hill, in North Carolina, and latterly Texas, a reversion has come to the days when other sections produced both the raw material and the manufactured article of their art.

"A national book club has just chosen one of 'Pancho' Doble's works for its February item. The Little Theatre of Dallas and The Southwest Review have been in the van of this regional movement for several years, reflecting considerably on the tradition of the Old South and painted gloomy mechanistic pictures of what will come of the growth of industrialism in that section.

Twelve Canutes are these, though without any Saxon conquests to their credit, bidding the waves of the industrial North Sea to fall back. The Southwesterners, like the leading spirits in the intellectual group at Charlottesville, are not concerning themselves with worn-out romanticism. They are willing to keep step with the parade of progress, although they insist on wearing their own regiments."

This new school of biography is revolutionary in two directions, being iconoclastic towards the idols and little gods of history and idolatrous toward the infamous "sinners" of history. Both attitudes are equally reprehensible in the eyes of those possessed of immutable prejudices and equally laudable in the eyes of realists with a liberal viewpoint.

But these are only two of the fascinating questions with which the whole affair fairly bristles. The discussion will not down.

We doubt, though, whether Dr. Einstein, the space expert, has ever been a news editor with 80 columns to fill and 192 columns to except ants.

NAVARRO COUNTY'S FINE BABIES TO BE FESTIVAL FEATURES

Seventy-five of the finest youngers in the city and county were out yesterday to enter the better baby festival the Navarro Camp No. 5 of the W. O. W. is conducting at 220 North Beaton street.

Master Calvin Rutherford, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rutherford, was the first entrant and because young gentleman was so alert he was awarded the first silver loving cup offered in the festival.

Other officers elected Thursday included Mavis Mason, vice-president, and Geraldine Sears, secretary.

LEGISLATORS ON TOUR STATE PRISON SYSTEM THURSDAY

HOUSTON. March 12.—(P)—Twenty-one representatives of the Texas legislature arrived here today to begin the day-long inspection of the Texas prison farms and of the state penitentiary at Huntsville. The inspection will center around the proposal to establish a new industrial unit on one of the farms.

The state prison board yesterday, on the eve of the house penitentiary committee's biennial inspection tour of the prison system submitted a petition to the legislature for $500,000 with which to carry out the project.

Henry Turner, representative from Madisonville, chairman of the penitentiary committee, had the petition drawn up. The legislators were met by W. A. Paddock, the chairman of the prison board; Lee Simmons, general manager of the state prison system, and managers of the South Texas farms.

Called Wichita Falls By Illness Mother

Mrs. Frank Holmes and her brother, John Doggett, of this city, were called to Wichita Falls on Thursday morning, where their mother is critically ill. They were joined by their brother, Jimmie Doggett, in Dallas, who proceeded to Wichita Falls with them.

New Instruction Course

In preparation, the prohibition bureau's 24 instructors have been ordered to report to Washington early in June for a "refresher" course of instruction.

They will be back at their posts in the 12 prohibition districts the morning of July 1. Two weeks of intensive schooling for the 350 new men will then be undertaken, with the idea of having them in the field and at work by July 1.

Of the 300 new dry agents, Woodcock said approximately 150 had been appointed during the past month and were now at work.

Officers have gone out to all administrators, he said, to make selections of the additional 350 men from among approximately 3,000 eligibles, in order that they might report exactly on July 1, the first day their salary will be authorized.

NUMEROUS TEXAS PROJECTS INCLUDED RIVER-HARBOR WORK

ALLOTMENT OF FIFTY-TWO MILLION DOLLARS HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(P)—Allotment of more than $52,819,275 for river and harbor work in all parts of the country was announced today by the department.

The allotments were made up of $50,696,111.97 from the $60,000 appropriated for rivers and harbors work for the present fiscal year. The remainder will close the department's emergency appropriation fund of $22,500,000.

The Missouri river received the largest single allocation with $6,149,800 for work from Kansas City to the mouth. Thus far during the fiscal year, with the present allocation, Missouri river allotments will total $13,385,000.

"These allotments provide for carrying forward many important projects," a statement by the war department said and will aid materially in the further relief of unemployment.

Other allotments included:

Anahua Channel, Texas—$11,000.

Cedar Bayou, Texas—$13,500.

Clear Creek, Texas—$7,000.

Freeport Harbor, Texas—$130,000.

Dairy and Poultry Co-Operatives Given Federal Recognition

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(P)—The farm board announced today it had recognized the dairy and poultry co-operatives, Inc. Sixth Regional Marketing association for dairy and poultry products to be approved.

Member associations last year handled products valued at $20,000,000 and represent 100,000 producers in Texas, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, North Carolina, Nebraska, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, and West Virginia.

Sales activities will be centralized in Chicago, the organization has a capital stock of $2,000,000. Producers organizations represented at the organization meeting included the Poultry Producers association of Texas and the Farmers' Equity Union Creamery association of Nebraska.

The turbulent stream which was its volume from seven states before emptying into the Gulf of California has been the object of study by government engineers more than 40 years.

Out of forty years of study and ten years of fighting came the Swing-Johnson bill, providing for an expenditure of $165,000,000 for the great dam project, but even as the "hard rock" crews went on the job today the fight was still on.

Arizona dissatisfied with provisions of the Swing-Johnson bill, filed suit in the United States supreme court to prevent its confirmation on the ground it discriminated against the state.

Waving aside Arizona's opposition, the six remaining states of the Colorado river basin entered a compact under which the development now proceeds.

When Secretary Wilbur of the interior department yesterday accepted the big of the Six Companies, Inc., of San Francisco for construction of the dam for slightly less than $50,000,000. Officials in charge announced work would start immediately.

Skeleton crews were called on the job to clear a right-of-way for a rail line that will carry supplies to the dam site.

In both Yellville and Humphrey the women's slogan is "clean up the town."

Yellville is in Northern Arkansas and Humphrey is in the South Central section. The approximate population is 2,500 each.

Healthcade Makes Three Day Tour of Freestone County

TEAGUE, March 12.—(Spl.)—The Healthcade put on by the department of health of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, and sponsored by the Bi-State Federation of Women's Clubs, got underway in Freestone county on Tuesday and lasted three days in all, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, being in the interest of the improvement of health.

The Healthcade was under the direction of Henry W. Stanley, director of this work for the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. A large number of schools were visited the first day, and an elaborate program was given at Dew on Tuesday night.

Some of the people in the party the first day were: Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer; Henry W. Stanley of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce; Miss Beatrice Lott, county health nurse; Mrs. Lex Smith, president of the Bi-State Federation of Women's Clubs; W. F. Richardson, county school superintendent; Mrs. J. R. Bell; Mrs. P. O. French.

"They seem," he continued, "to have taken to heart the criticisms of the methods adopted by prohibition advocates in the past, and to have realized from the description of existing conditions the need of rallying their forces and reconsidering their plans in the light of facts set forth."

"In the past there has been much well founded complaint of the extreme intolerance of the prohibitionists. Their peculiar characteristics of late appear to have been appropriated by their opponents. Apparently a large body of anti-prohibitionists expected the commission to find a way for them to secure liquor with ease and were enraged when we failed to do so."

Wickersham spoke at length upon the reported "differences" between the individual rights of the 11 commissioners and their brief conclusions. He contended the differences mainly were confined to remedies suggested for recognized ills.

Despite the broadness of the field, he said, the commission, on March 1, had on hand $172,600 of the $500,000 appropriated to it. This was due, he asserted, to work done without compensation by both commission members and experts.

WORK STARTED ON MIGHTY COLORADO DAM ON THURSDAY

UTILIZATION AND TAMING OF TURBULENT STREAM IS STARTED

LAS VEGAS, Nevada, March 12.—(P)—The taming of the mighty Colorado river got under way today. Actual work started on Hoover dam, a monumental engineering effort, fittingly placed in a wild section that has been a land of romance since the sixteenth century.

The turbulent stream which was its volume from seven states before emptying into the Gulf of California has been the object of study by government engineers more than 40 years.

Out of forty years of study and ten years of fighting came the Swing-Johnson bill, providing for an expenditure of $165,000,000 for the great dam project, but even as the "hard rock" crews went on the job today the fight was still on.

The members estimated this would make a fund of approximately $40,000 for trade extension for the coming year.

Hardwood Men Will Advertise More

CINCINNATI, March 12.—(P)—Members of the Appalachian Hardwood Club, representing an annual cut of hardwoods aggregating 300,000,000 board feet in 10 states, voted at a meeting here to raise their assessments to 20 cents on the thousand feet, effective April 1, for advertising and trade extension work.

The members estimated this would make a fund of approximately $40,000 for trade extension for the coming year.

Austin, March 12.—(P)—The United States department of agriculture, division of crop and livestock estimates, said in a report released today Texas experienced unusually favorable weather during the winter and the demand for farm labor was 113 per cent of normal.

Food requirements have been small due to the mild winter and supplies of feed on farms are large considering the severe drought conditions last year in all sections of the state. All livestock was wintered well and is now in better than average condition," the report said.

Acres in wheat was reported as being 3 per cent larger than that of 1929. Wheat was reported to be making good growth with the acreage abandoned ranged from three per cent to 54 per cent with a 10 year average of about

POWELL GIRLS WIN COUNTY BASKETBALL TITLE OVER BRYAN HIGH

EXTRA PERIOD WAS NECESSARY DECIDE
WINNER HOT GAME

E. NAVARRO GIRLS TRIUMPH
BY A TWO-POINT COUNT
WEDNESDAY NIGHT

It took the pride of Powell high school an extra two minute session to slash their way to a Navarro county girl's championship on the Y. M. C. A. court Wednesday night, when they engaged the powerful Bryan sextette in one of the hardest fought battles seen on the court in several seasons. The outcome was 36-34, as the regular allotted playing period closed, the score was deadlocked 34-34, and in an extra two minutes Esther Ruth Brown, flashy Powell forward, connected with a shot from the court, which ultimately ended the game.

Powell blasted the lid off the first few minutes of play, but was soon overtaken by Bryan, and the latter team was leading 17-12 as the curtain was rung down on the first half. A fast offensive spurt by Powell enabled them to tie the score and keep within a few points of their opponents in the third quarter. With three minutes to play in the regular time, Powell was training by 8 points, but unleashed a scoring spree, and tied the score.

By virtue of their defeat Bryan was accredited with second honors in the Navarro county girls' tournament, and O. F. F. Home took the undisputed credit for third place when they defeated State Home Saturday night.

Had Been Postponed

The final game was scheduled for Saturday night, but was postponed when Lillian McKinney, Powell forward, was injured in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon. McKinney was one of Powell's mainstays at forward position, but her absence was well taken care of by Lillian Speed, who turned in a creditable game throughout Wednesday night's entertainment, and placed third in the scoring column with four field goals and four free throws for 12 tallies.

Highpoint honors go to Brown, of Powell, who connected with 10 long shots, and four free throws, for 24 points. She was one of the outstanding performers of the evening, and hit the basket with uncanny accuracy. Taylor of Bryan, was second in the scoring column, with four field goals and two contributed toises for 20 points. Speed was third, with 12, and Sutton and Gey made 8 and 6 respectively.

The brilliant work of both centers and guards of the Powell aggregation kept the ball fed down to the forwards, and was largely responsible for the Powell victory. Bryan was an outstanding jumping center, and demonstrated her prowess in handling the horseplay. Stevenson, Austin and Ferguson also turned in creditable accounts of themselves through the game.

Taylor Good Player

Taylor was highpoint for the losing six, and showed unusual ability as a basketball player, as did her running mates, Gey, Sutton. In the third quarter, Gey substituted for Sutton, who in turn was to guard position, and showed her versatility at handling more than one place on the floor. For the short time Gey was in the game, she identified herself as an all round good player, and was adept at hitting the basket. Compton halved the guarding honors with Conrad, but in the winning six, was taken from the game via foul trouble. Neese, filled Compton's shoes. Alderman, Drane and McDonald handled themselves creditably at center.

To enter the final combat, Powell defeated Providence 22-21; Corsicana high 33-26; Petty's Chapel 30-19 and I. O. O. F. 32-10. Bryan won the right to participate Wednesday night by taking games from Navarro, State Home 34-18, and State Home 37-19.

The 18 teams playing in the girl's tournament on the Y. M. C. A. court Friday and Saturday included: Powell, Providence, Corsicana high, Currie, Petty's Chapel, Wilson, Rural Shade, I. O. O. F. Home, Corbet, Purdon, Union High, Barry, Purley, State Home, Navarro, Bryan, Jimmies, and Dawson. Due to the number of teams entering the tournament, the championship squad played one more game than any of the other participants.

Providence Defeats Purdon

The cash customers saw another game Wednesday night that was replete with thrills, hard fought, and closely contested throughout, when Providence defeated Purdon 25-21 in an exhibition affair before the men and women spectators. Two teams played on practically even terms during the first half, and as the whistle ended the first half, the score was tied 9-9. The respective performances were nip and tuck during the remaining minutes, neither team having an unusually heavy lead over their adversaries. As the third stanza closed Providence was leading by one point, which they increased to a four

FOUR BALL MATCH CONTEST ENDED BY DARKNESS AT 40TH HOLE

MIAMI, Fla., March 12.—(P)— Unable to break a deadlock before darkness fell last night, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell had to go to the golf links for 18 holes today to end their 40-hole tieup with Willie MacFarlane and Wiffy Cox for the championship of Miami's $5,000 international four ball matches.

Sarazen and Farrell, seeking to repeat their tournament win of '28, found the opposition of MacFarlane and Cox to much to down in the regulation 36-hole final match, and seeing sawing and two hole leads throughout the day, before the largest gallery in the history of the $5,000 event.

Coming to the 36th all square, the teams halved the last hole and went into the extra hole phase. Then they went through the 37th, 38th, 39th and 40th holes without breaking the tie.

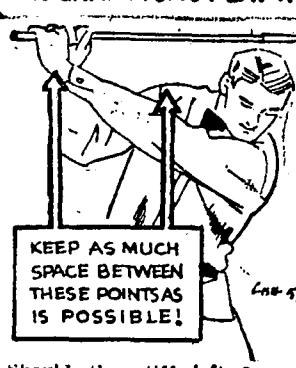

At the 36th hole, Cox missed a four and took a five. MacFarlane, shooting his fourth, putted eight feet only to see the ball rim the cup and bounce out. Sarazen picked up. Farrell, a scant eight feet from the cup, appeared to win, but the ball rode the rim and lifted out on the other side to card a halving five.

With dusk falling at the 40th cup, tournament officials postponed play until today, calling for an 18-hole match to decide the issue.

GOLF
AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Should the stiff left arm rule followed regardless of whether the player's swing is flat or upright? Or should the upright swinger bend the left arm?

Answered by WILLIE OGG

The straight left arm should be used in both swings, but care should be taken not to have the arm to stiff at the top of the swing. With the wooden clubs, relax just a trifle.

Many players are so built that it is impossible for them to take a full swing without bending the left arm. My advice to the class is to be sure to keep the hands from turning in towards the shoulder; in other words, keep as big a space between the hands and the shoulders as possible at the top of the swing.

Max Schmeling is Seen in Action By Dallas Fight Fans

DALLAS, March 12.—(P)—Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion, held a three round sparring exhibition here last night against Lou Barba of New York and Pedro Lopez of Oklahoma, both in Schmeling's stable of sparring partners.

The heavyweight champion, who was scheduled to referee a wrestling match, declined the third man job, claiming he was not sufficiently versed on wrestling rules. Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs, planned to leave Dallas today for Shreveport for another exhibition.

SPORT NOTES
By PAUL MOORE, SUN SPORTS EDITOR

Happ Morse, popular skipper of the Dallas Steers now training here, Wednesday night refereed the championship basketball contest between Powell and Bryan girls. Powell won, 36-34, after an extra period was played, and the battle was as torrid as the score indicates. Morse, a man known officially on the painted court, and his officiates in the southwestern conference and other circles.

New York Giants had little trouble winning on the Texas Longhorns Wednesday, 14-4, at Austin, with Mel Ott leading the swatting attack with a pair of home runs and a two bigger. On the three other occasions he came to the bat, Ott was walked.

Athletes from Texas colleges and high schools will gather in Fort Worth Saturday to compete in the annual Fort Worth Fat Stock Show track and field meet.

Apparently the New York Yankees carry plenty of punch in their clubs this year, as they scored nine runs in the ninth inning against the Boston Braves Wednesday to win, 17-9.

Spring football practice is getting under way for the Waco Tigers in an effort to develop a club football team for Cordele, Cleburne and Terrell this fall. Only two other members of the club that performed last fall will be back this season, and Coach Paul Tyson will put in plenty of long hours getting ready for the defense of his sacred Cotton Palace traditions, but the Tigers of Cordele will be ready, also, and those "Cotton Palace traditions" may have to be scrapped. Corsicana and Cleburne came dangerously near turning the trick in 1925, and 1931 may see the trick turned.

REGULARS DOWND YANNIGANS 13 TO 6 WEDNESDAY'S GAME

ONLY LIGHT WORKOUT TO BE GIVEN MAVERICKS FRIDAY MORNING

Manager Happ Morse changed his training plans for the remainder of the week Thursday morning and ordered one long workout for Thursday beginning at 11 o'clock, and said only a light hitting and fielding drill would be given the Bovines Friday preparatory to their couple of exhibition contests with the New York Giant St. Louis in Dallas Saturday and Sunday.

Garlands, Meadowlarks, Erickson, Main and Rouprich were due for mound duty Thursday.

"That is worrying me is who to release, now, as the boys are all looking too good to let go," smiled Morse Thursday morning, "but some will have to go during the week-end.

Light Work Friday.

"With a light workout Friday, some of the boys suffering minor ailments will be given an opportunity of getting in good shape," Morse continued.

The Dallas manager was well-pleased with the manner in which the players hammered the ball in the inter-club combat. Happ watched the mleets from the bench. "Of course, the pitching was not so good, but a bunch that remembers the bad will be, regardless of the pitching, will be giving the opportunity something to think about by the time the season opens," Morse mused as he grinned broadly while base-hits were being showered all over the lot. The regulars defeated the Yannigans, 13-6, in Wednesday's six inning affair.

Stewart Slugging

Cecil Stewart, purchased from the Shreveport Sports during the winter, second-acker, hammered out three doubles Wednesday. Manager Morse had him to change his position at the plate, only a slight change, and he has been hitting at a terrific pace since that time.

Morse spends considerable time watching his rookies and regulars, coming up with fine suggestions frequently.

Hammering eighteen base hits out in six innings, including seven in a double, one triple and a pair of home runs, the Regulars Wednesday afternoon fell on the Yannigans with a vengeance in the final three innings to win the inter-club match against the Yannigans, 13-6. The attack was led by Stewart, who hammered out three doubles, Kelly with a double and a home run and Holman with a home run and a single. Frady hit a triple and a single.

For the Yannigans, Mize led the glove-wielders when he was good for two doubles, a single and a home run.

After the game had been concluded, Skipper Morse said the fire-ball pitchers—Garland, Erickson, Main and Rouprich might see service in the opening game of the two-contest series with the New York Giant seconds in Dallas Saturday.

Ideal Weather

Wednesday was an ideal baseball day with a warm sun beaming down and with practically no wind stirring. This was the first real baseball day of the training sessions here.

Skipper Morse and a number of the regulars did not participate in the intra-club game Wednesday afternoon after the strenuous bat-ting practice held Wednesday morning, the effects of which was noticeable in the game in the afternoon.

Holman's home run came in the fourth stanza with a runner on the bags. The ball cleared the center-field wall, landing high on a warehouse across the street beyond the fence. Kelly had previous hit his Homer with a man on the path.

Mize's Homer found two run-ners aboard.

Sam Langford, veteran outfielder, who has been on the sick list, resumed work Wednesday by engaging in hitting practice.

Kelly and Short have sore legs, and Tesmer is complaining with a sore arm, but played. Todd apparently strained a muscle in his side, but is improving, and Speas Meadows had a touch of sinus Wednesday.

Plenty Rainbirds

The railbirds had increased in numbers for Wednesday's workouts, and large numbers were on hand a considerable time prior to the appearance of the players for the afternoon contest.

Douglas Tate, formerly player with the Dallas club, property of the Chicago White Sox, was in camp Wednesday afternoon en route to Atlanta where has been based out this season, and worked out a short time.

Albert Boer, "The Welman Wow" rookie outfielder, takes a fine stand at the plate, and looks fine in the field, although he misjudged one fly, but he covers plenty of territory, knows when to throw the ball, and when he gets hold of it, and when he throws it there. The oldtimers in camp are watching the lad closely, and are giving him helpful hints—in fact all of the vets are helping the rookies.

"When I send those fire-ball boys into the box tomorrow, there will not be so much hitting," Morse declared as the base-balls were showered all over the lot and outside of the boxes.

Members of the Yannigan club of Tuesday reported Wednesday

PANTAGES FACING SERIOUS CHARGES IN "LOVE BAZAAR"

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman, and John P. Mills, prominent San Diego and Los Angeles realty dealers surrendered to police here today. They were arrested yesterday before Justice Arthur L. Mundo, on charges of complicity in patronage of the so-called Hollywood "Girl Bazaar."

Pantages was released on $15,000 bail and Mills was released on $10,000 bail.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—A whirlpool of charges growing out of the investigation of a "love bazaar" in which school girls allegedly were coaxed to high prices for men of wealth today engulfed Alexander Pantages, theater magnate who still is fighting a conviction of having attacked Eunice Pringle, young dancer, in August, 1929.

Jesse H. Shreve, prominent San Diego business man; John P. Mills, Los Angeles and San Diego estate millionaire; William J. Jobmann, former publicity agent and Olive Clark Day were named with Pantages in a complaint issued by District Attorney Thomas Wheeler.

The complaint and another, charging Shreve, Mills, Jobmann and the woman with four counts involving an investigation of the activities here of an alleged "girl mart" recently reported in Los Angeles with the arrests of Mills, Jobmann and Mrs. Day.

Whelan charged Jobmann and Mrs. Day, alleged operators of the "girl mart," brought Helen Livingston, 17, here from Los Angeles October 30 last with the assistance of Mills, and that Shreve paid the girl for acting as Pantages' companion at a hotel. The second complaint charged that Lydia Nitto, 16, another purported "girl" girl similarly was brought here by Mills, Shreve, Jobmann and the woman.

Shreve surrendered and posted $25,000 bond in justice court. He denied all the allegations and said he "would like to see the girls named."

Pantages, who was in Agua Caliente, Mexico, with Mrs. Pantages, when the charges were filed, said over the telephone he was innocent.

Fromises to Surrender

Pantages' attorney rushed here from Los Angeles last night and made preparations to arrange the vaudeville impresario's bond, but Mr. and Mrs. Pantages did not return from Mexico. The attorneys said the theater magnate would come to San Diego and surrender today.

Conspiracy to violate and actual violation of the juvenile court laws were charged against the entire group while all except Pantages were charged additionally with conspiracy to assault and actual assault against Miss Nitto.

Jobmann and Mrs. Day allegedly operated an agency through which wealthy men obtained companions for fees ranging from $175 to $1,000.

Pantages was convicted late in 1928 of assault on Miss Pringle, a student of a Los Angeles university, and was sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary.

for the accident.

It occurred near the Reed farm, which was used for a landing field by the pilot for the flight.

The plane was reported a four passenger biplane of an old model. It bore an identification number but was not licensed.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness, Hays said that it "just happened," Crowder reported.

Hays told hospital attendants he and Mrs. Reed and her sons had spent the night at the Casey farm and were taking off on a short pleasure ride when the accident occurred.

He said the ship went into a nose dive at an altitude of about 100 feet. It did not catch fire.

Later hospital attendants said the pilot's condition was not critical, but that the injured boy was badly hurt.

F. C. Dale, Wewoka, pilot with Hays, witnessed the accident.

He said the ship had gone less than two miles and was banking in a turn about 200 feet above the ground when it dived out of control and crashed.

Hays said he was forced down on the farm last night on his way from Tulsa to Wewoka. Neither Casey nor any of the Reeds had taken a flight, Hays said, so he offered them a ride this morning.

The elder Reed, waiting to go aloft on a second flight, witnessed the crash.

STATE HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE BRINGS ACTION IN SENATE

sas to address its membership at 3 p.m. Monday.

Senator Moore of Greenville introduced a bill asking that election judges and other election officials be prohibited from betting on the outcome of elections.

Senate Kills Fifth Bill This Session

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—The senate killed outright its fifth bill of the session today.

The bill, by Senator Woodul of Houston, and asked that all goods containing corn sugar be taxed. It came up this morning by virtue of a motion from Woodul that it be printed on a minority report after the senate committee on health yesterday gave it an unfavorable report.

The motion by Woodul to print on the minority report was tabled.

Senator Hopkins of Gonzales told the members they should not waste valuable time arguing about printing bills on a minority report.

Hopkins said he understood corn sugar was not injurious but healthful. He said the bill would affect every corn raiser in the state. Senator Poage of Waco, whom the veteran Independent Norris of Nebraska, said he looked upon to lead in the Independent movement after he had passed on, presented the problems to the conference.

In the general discussion, D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said one-third of his organization was "walking the streets."

Senator Purl of Dallas said senate committees had given but four bills unfavorable reports and that the corn sugar bill should be the fifth to be killed.

To Enlarge Powers Court of Appeals

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg introduced a bill today to give the court of criminal appeals power to review questions of fact and errors of law in all cases where the punishment was death or 15 years or more in the penitentiary.

The bill was introduced after Petsch's attention had been called to the opinion of the court in the case of Dave Goodwin, sentenced to death after being convicted in Bowie county of the murder of Lloyd Elliott. In its opinion, the appeals court said it was apparent Goodwin was not given a fair trial but that no relief could be granted because of statutory inhibitions which prevented the court from going behind the record.

Under Petsch's bill, the court would have the right to review any irregularities, even though the irregularities were not disclosed in the record of the case, it would place responsibility directly on the appeals court, Petsch said.

Goodwin's attorneys failed to file a motion for a change of venue and also failed to file exceptions to an erroneous charge of the judge to the jury. The appeals court held it was manifestly impossible for Goodwin to have obtained a fair trial in Bowie county because of the high feeling against him.

Petsch said he was not so much concerned about the Goodwin case, specifically, but believed other cases might arise wherein the law also would further justice.

Income Tax Plan Introduced

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—The house today passed a bill by Senator Woodul of Houston to give the juvenile board of Harris county authority to appoint juvenile officers. The bill would raise the minimum salary from $3,000 to $5,000.

Two constitutional amendments were introduced in the house. One by Rep. Barron of Sherman would give the legislature authority to levy a graduated income tax on persons and corporations. The other, by Rep. Dowling of Luling, would provide for a constitutional convention to redraft and revise the state constitution.

Prison labor would be used in construction of state highways where feasible under a bill introduced by Representative Johnson of Corpus Christi. The prison would be under contract with the prison board and the state highway commission.

Persons convicted of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated would be barred from driving for two years under a bill introduced by Representative Burns of Brady. The suspension would be made by the judge trying the case.

New House Bills

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—Persons using automobile headlights at hunting would be sent to the penitentiary under a bill introduced today by Representative Tewary of Athens. The offense now is a misdemeanor.

A bill to prohibit hunting deer in Hamilton and Coryell counties for five years was introduced by Representative West of Jonesboro.

Representative Adkins of Gilmer introduced a bill today to allow cities of a population of less than 5,000 to levy a tax on gasoline and one-half cent per gallon on gasoline sold within the city limits. The money would be used for street improvement and bridge purposes. Adkins said he introduced the bill by request.

Former Speaker to Wed.

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—An announcement of the engagement of W. S. Barron of Bryan, former speaker of the Texas house of representatives to Missess DuBois of Cameron, was made in the house today. The marriage will take place March 24 at the home of Miss DuBois, a graduate of Baylor University.

Utilities Renditions.

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—Representative Sherrill of Bellevue introduced a bill today to require public utilities and all corporations making renditions of property for rate purposes to render their property for taxation at 50 per cent of the value, rendered as a basis for rates. Sherrill said he would amend the bill to require them to render for taxation at 40 per cent of rate rendition.

Motor Reciprocity Bill.

AUSTIN, March 12.—(P)—The house today was expected to pass a bill by Senator Berkeley of Alpine to provide for a reciprocity agreement between Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana relative to commercial motor vehicles.

Directed Verdict For Congressman Is Turned Down

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(P)—After a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal had been denied, Edward E. Denison, former representative from Illinois, charged with possession of liquor, testified today his baggage "got all mixed up" in New York on his return from Panama two years ago.

The government contends 24 bottles of liquor taken from an army locker trunk in Denison's office by prohibition agents January 19, 1929, shortly after the defendant returned from Panama with his new wife, Charles Lane of St. Louis, belonged to the former congressman.

a solution of unemployment and industrial troubles.

Robert P. Scripps, president of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, put the two-point proposal into plain words after similar suggestions had been voiced by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, whom the veteran Independent Norris of Nebraska, said he looked upon to lead in the Independent movement after he had passed on, presented the problems to the conference.

In the general discussion, D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said one-third of his organization was "walking the streets."

Wagstaff said the bill was proposed by Robert P. Scripps, president of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, put the two-point proposal into plain words after similar suggestions had been voiced by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, whom the veteran Independent Norris of Nebraska, said he looked upon to lead in the Independent movement after he had passed on, presented the problems to the conference.

Wagstaff said the decision of the supreme court had thrown land titles in West Texas into confusion and had stopped development on mineral and grazing land. He said 180 counties would be affected although a major portion of the 2,000,000 acres involved, located in 19 West Texas counties.

Wagstaff declared the commissioners of the land office had offered a large portion of the land involved for sale in 1921 under the 1919 relinquishment act and in the notice of sale stated the owner of the surface would be entitled to all the bonuses and royalties, only one-sixteenth of the oil being received by the state.

Terms Bill "Iniquitous."

Graves said the Small bill "iniquitous" and declared it would be "killing the birthright of the school children for a mess of potage." He charged that West Texans who bought the land from the state were aware the state had reserved the mineral rights but that when oil was discovered in large quantities they began trying to get out of the bargain.

He said $285,000 in bonus money had been paid into the state treasury as bonus on this land, indicating some of the landowners had believed the opinion of the表面 owner that the minerals were reserved to the state and the school fund was entitled to share in the development.

Graves predicted that if the bonuses were permitted to accrue to the state that in 20 years the state ad valorem tax for school purposes could be abolished. He claimed the Small bill was not a validating bill but one to give away the rights of the state school funds.

Graves claimed the 1919 validation bill gave surface owners title to fifteen-sixteenths of the minerals as agents of the state, provided the state had been withheld by the committee pending the bill.

Start Tour Prison System.

AUSTIN, March 11.—(P)—The house committee on penitentiaries today started a three day tour of the new prison system through the next session of the new congress in which the independent bill will hold the balance of power.

Senate Norris of Nebraska directed attention to a definite legislative program covering tariff, unemployment, power, agriculture and representative government.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin opened the discussion with a charge that "industrial, financial and political leadership" had been broken down. He called for the conference to draft a program for the stabilization of industry and employment.

He contended over production was not responsible for the nation's ills, and assailed proposals of industrial leaders for mergers and reduction of wages.

Responding to the Wisconsin republican, George E. Soule of the labor bureau of New York City proposed creation of a general staff to work out a national economic policy.

Senator Norris told the conference he was going to know that when Senator LaFollette named a committee on unemployment and industrial stabilization of which he will be chairman.

Supporting the Small bill, Representative Stevenson of Indiana said the landowners purchased the land from the state under the interpretation of the 1919 act by the commissioners of the land office and not under the supreme court decision of 1928. The land committee's interpretation, Stevenson said, was that surface owners should have all the profits from mineral development, the state to reserve one-sixteenth of the oil.

Stevenson said Graves was making an impression pleased for the school children too and that the "one-bonus" question should have been decided when the state validated the mineral title of surface owners on other school lands.

The 1919 relinquishment law says nothing about the one-bonus going to the state," Stevenson said, declaring he could not understand how the supreme court could place this construction on the act.

He contended the Graves bill would not give the surface owner title to any of the minerals.

An amendment was offered by Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg which would give the state the bonuses already paid and the bonuses due up to the time of the supreme court decision.

Investigation Continued.

The house education committee continued its investigation last night of circumstances surrounding the distribution of series of character charts to state aid schools.

Hearing was reopened yesterday afternoon on the Holbrook utilities regulation bill. Among those appearing before senate committee on state affairs which was declaratory he could not understand how the supreme court could place this construction on the act.

An amendment was offered by Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg which would give the state the bonuses already paid and the bonuses due up to the time of the supreme court decision.

Unemployment and industrial stabilization came before the meeting today with Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, in charge of the discussion. The afternoon session on power promised further criticism of the administration for its attitude toward regulation and government operation of Muscle Shoals.

The committee was named only to outline legislative work during the session and fall but they were expected to continue their efforts indefinitely, even to the 1932 elections.

Unemployment and industrial stabilization came before the meeting today with Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, in charge of the discussion. The afternoon session on power promised further criticism of the administration for its attitude toward regulation and government operation of Muscle Shoals.

Before adjournment tonight the progressives will receive reports from special committees outlining future work.

Calling for new national policies, conference speakers have centered attacks on the Hoover administration although the platform of Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee drew fire from Senator Robb, republican of Idaho.

Norris himself focused attention on the next presidential race with expression of fear that the power trust was aiming at control of both national conventions and both presidential candidates.

In this connection, Governor Roosevelt, democrat, New York sent a message to the convention urging study of his own water power policies. Roosevelt was invited to the meeting and friendly relations seem to have been established.

Prohibition crept into the discussions last night just as the moment when Charles A. Beard, historical writer, in reply to questions put to the conference by Senator Watson of Indiana, the non-representative leader, said progressive truck owners were permitted to make two trips into Texas of not longer than two days duration without being required to purchase Texas license was an heresy on the house program today.

The house yesterday received a message from the governor in which he suggested that the truckers be required to hold up to date.

A bill by Senator Berkley of Alpine, opposing the eighteenth amendment without the provision of some form of public control of liquor.

Leaders, however, centered discussion on economic issues on the Agenda and Beard's statement created no counter discussion.

Under the bill, commercial vehicles would be allowed to make two trips per month of two days each into Texas.

Governor Murray of Oklahoma recently protested to Governor Sterling against arrest of Oklahoma commercial vehicle drivers for not having a Texas license. Sterling replied he expected the reciprocity bill to be passed immediately.

MINERAL RIGHTS VALIDA- TION BILL OPPOSED BITTER- LY GRAVES, GEORGETOWN

AUSTIN, March 11.—(P)—The house became embroiled in another land title validation fight today when it started consideration of a bill by Senator Small of Wellington validating the title of surface owners of school mineral and grazing land to fifteen-sixteenths of the minerals.

Representative Wagstaff of Abilene declared such action was the intention of the validating act passed in 1919, but that the supreme court, interpreting the law, had held the state reserved all the minerals and was entitled to one-half the bonus and royalties.

The bill was bitterly opposed by Representative Graves of Georgetown, who offered a substitute bill which would confirm the original validation act.

The

A Nervous Hostess Who Forgot Her Manners and Her Guest

Something About Real Hospitality; And A Famous Incident In The Life of Jesus --- How The Gentlest of Men Acted Toward The Enemies of Mankind.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.
One evening, in Jaffa, Palestine, I was attracted to the main street by a general hubub, with which the sound of Syrian music mingled. The excitement was all caused by a wedding procession—or rather, by the march of the groom and his friends to the bride's home. Scores, perhaps hundreds, of men were in line. I expected to see some dignitary as the central figure, of importance a demonstration. Instead, it was a very ordinary youth, visibly embarrassed and happy.

Such is the value that the Orient puts upon friendship. A wedding, a funeral, a festival of any sort, bring out sharply this truth of the value of human relationship. A friend's friends are one's foes; Riots and ovations thus easily arise in the Land we call Holy.

A Jerusalem Suburbanite. When in Jerusalem, the Master made His abode in the suburbs, in the little town of Bethany, on the eastern shore of the Mount of Olives, with the household of Martha and Mary and Lazarus. No imagination can compass what this quiet shelter, with its atmosphere of affection and consideration, meant to Jesus after His stressful day in the city.

Now can we understand what He meant to that home—or, what He means to any other home that makes Him a welcome guest. He gave life to Lazarus; and also fuller, richer life to all the household, by His presence and words. Most enviable of all the homes that have ever been on earth was this one in Bethany, where Jesus was a familiar guest. Lavishly their warm oriental hospitality was poured out upon Him.

In passing a word, should be said about the virtue of hospitality, which the Bible so strictly enjoins. Homes should be opened to friends and strangers, who usually bring a blessing, of one sort or another. Last night a man in distress came to me, knowing my name only through a distant friend who calls himself such because he reads these Lessons, though we have never met or corresponded. As he left, my visitor said, "I was so nervous, yet I needn't have been at all," I can hardly explain the afterglow of that visit, the mellowing of heart that follows a simple bit of human fellowship.

Every guest comes bearing gifts. We deny ourselves and our children, more than we know when the doors of our homes are not kept open wide in hospitality. Abraham was neither the first nor the last who entertained angels unawares. There must have been a first time when the Bethany folk opened their home to Jesus, little dreaming of the vast consequences to follow.

What Is Hospitality?

Big dinners and "cocktail" manner are not necessarily hospitality. Neither are hired entertainers and elaborate refreshments. Formal "parties" may be boredom for all concerned. Genuine hospitality is the sharing of one's natural home life with a guest. It means welcome and kindness and simplicity, and a sincere interest in the person who has come to us. Also it implies a sharing of life and a measure of self-forgetfulness.

Grand but grumpy Martha—who had let her spirit get caught in the machinery of housekeeping—missed this point for a moment. Hospitality had developed into too much about entertainments, and so she had become anxious about the dinner and the housework. Thus, all unwittingly, she let her Guest perceive that He was a burden to her. Ah, these nervous and distraught hostesses, who wreck their serenity in worry about dinner!

Of course, there cannot be hospitality without housekeeping, and doubtless it was tireless Martha's care that made the Bethany home a shelter and refreshment for Jesus. There would have been scant comfort in the house if all had depended only upon worshipful Mary. Martha's secret, however, was that she let the housework worry her, and make her querulous for the moment. It was not for food and furnishings, primarily, that Jesus resorted to the Bethany home. Simple fare, with fellowship, is more to be desired than a feast with freeness. I have dined sumptuously with kings and plainly with peasants in the lands of the Bible; and the hospitality of the latter was quite as fine as that of the former.

A Hostess With Discernment.

On the two sisters, Mary, although she may have been a bit sick on the domestic side, was the more discerning hostess. She ministered to the spirit of the Guest, while Martha bothered overmuch about His body. It was for friendship, for sympathy, for understanding, that the tired Master repaired

STERLING SIGNED DROUGHT AID BILL DURING WEDNESDAY

AUSTIN, March 11.—(P)—Governor Sterling today signed the bill by Senator Cunningham of Abilene permitting county commissioners courts in the drought area to lend money to farmers to buy seed and stock feed.

Rather petulantly—perhaps the kabobs had burned to a cinder or the pilaff had turned into a sticky mess, by neglect of any incompetent servant even—had she not understood the distasteful and irritating Martha complained to Jesus that her sister was letting her do all the waiting at the table. Had she been her usual well-poised self, Martha would not have committed this social improbity of troubling her Guest about a household matter.

But Jesus was also the teacher as well as the friend. So He gently chided Martha, reminding her that in hospitality one thing is essential, and Mary had chosen that good part. Mary was ministering to His spirit, and feeding her own spiritual life; so what mattered a dish more or less at the dinner?

All the real values of life are spiritual; as many a woman who has married a man for his riches, disdaining her heart's promptings, has learned to her sorrow. Recently I saw the young wife of an old millionaire with the husband whose fortune she had wedded, and the look on her face seemed dearly bought. Well does the apostle plead, "Covet earnestly the best gifts."

And Enemies Too.

Friends of great preciousness had our Lord during His earthly ministry; but foes also he had, correspondingly bitter and malignant. They do ill who portray Jesus as a figure of uch sweetness that He lacks force. Perhaps we shall never be able to deliver the personal message of Christ from the saccharine representation of the sentimentalists, the poets, the sentimentalists, satisfied memorials, noble histories, faithful sayings, treasure houses of precious and restful thoughts, which cannot disturb, nor pain, make gloomy, nor poverty take away from us—houses built without hands, for our souls to live in.

TEN YEARS OF BAD HEALTH IS ROUTED

"I am 76 years old and always had the best of health until ten years ago," stated Chas. B. Westmoreland, 902 Booth St., Houston, but limp-backed Christians serve a purpose; but limp-backed Christians do not. Gelatinous saints are not really saintly. Port Sudan, on the Red Sea, is built on a site formerly celebrated only for the tomb of a Moslem called "Saint Shrimp." I have met more than an Christian whose grave should be so marked. Virtue witness to the truth was taught and practiced by Jesus as a primary objective of life. To be strong in testimony against wrongdoing is as sacred a duty as to be gentle with the weak!

Why is the United States cursed with "hacketeers"? Because so many persons do not think straight; so many judges and magistrates do not walk straight; and because so many policemen do not shoot straight. Can we not almost hear the Master pronouncing a "woe unto you!" for our supineness in the presence of crass evil?

Jesus was very indignant against the public right and well-

Fruit and Vegetable Growers Seek Relief

AUSTIN, March 11.—(P)—Fruit and vegetable growers of the state, especially those from the lower Rio Grande Valley, appeal before the house revenue and taxation committee last night to urge passage of a bill to place a tax on the itinerant truck produce peddlers.

Bon E. Keith of Fort Worth, representing the wholesale fruit and vegetable dealers association, said the retailers and producers had no complaint against the peddler who grew the produce and then peddled it from door to door, but declared bitter opposition to the peddler who paid no taxes and demoralized the market by selling inferior products.

The bill was drawn by Representative Holder of Lancaster. It would levy an occupation tax on all classifications of traveling peddlers.
